A few words from the CEO...

The new year is underway, full of promise and excitement. I'm excited to share that our two mock-up rooms in York are complete and we're asking for your feedback. Please take a look at them and use the large sticky notes and pens in the basket to let us know what you think. You can stick your note to the wall or right where your thought or suggestion applies. I hope to see rooms full of sticky notes! Once we have worked through the ideas and made adjustments to the plans, we'll produce large poster boards so everyone can see the highlights of the planned changes.

We're also producing a monthly construction update newsletter for residents, families, colleagues, and friends of BSP. We'll answer questions in the newsletter and will keep a running Q&A posted in the same location as the poster boards that we'll update as more questions come in and get answered. This is a large project—over $4 million—and it will take between 20 and 24 months to complete. We'll do our best to keep everyone informed as we go.

York is not the only project slated for this year. Mark your calendars for the first of two resident town halls this year, which will occur on February 12th at 3:00 pm in the Westport Room. We'll review how 2019 finished up and present an overview of the projects that are slated for 2020.

Hope to see you all there! Warm regards,

Dee

Vietnam War Exhibition at the WWI Museum

More than 40 years after its conclusion, the Vietnam War remains one of the most controversial events of the 20th century. How did the conflict begin? Why did it begin? What are the connections between the war and its confounding cousin, World War I?

Exploring the pivotal struggles felt both on the war front and the home front, The Vietnam War: 1945–1975, a traveling exhibition from the New York Historical Society, examines how the divisive war challenged democracy, citizenship, and patriotism through a remarkable collection of objects, documents, photographs, and more in the museum's Wylie Gallery.

NOTE | Please be mindful when entering and leaving the museum. The entrance of the museum can be challenging to maneuver. Sign up!

The Great Courses: Western Civilization

Wednesday, February 26 3:00 p.m. | Westport Room

Scholar and teacher Thomas F. X. Noble of the University of Notre Dame explores western civilization from its humble beginnings to the dawn of the modern world.

According to the Oxford Dictionary, the heart is a hollow muscular organ that pumps the blood through the circulatory system. But that's not what we're celebrating when we give cards covered with hearts for Valentine's Day. Not what we're thinking about when we give conversation hearts or, better yet, chocolate hearts, or heart-shaped cookies or heart-shaped doughnuts (none of which are heart smart, but there is a recipe for heart-shaped granola bars).

Our February frenzy has to do with heart function that is non-biological. Some people are all heart—warm and caring. Our hearts go out to others in concern. People and pets find their way into our hearts. Another's kindness warms the cockles of our hearts. When we're head over heels we may wear our hearts on our sleeves.

To get to the heart of the matter, heart-shaped valentines, edible or otherwise, are about the love that blesses our lives. May we give thanks for our loved ones, human and furry, and above all may we give thanks to the One who loved us into being.

I have loved you with an everlasting love. (Jeremiah 31:3)

Thoughtful Quote from BSP Folks

Some people...no matter how old they get, never lose their beauty. They merely move it from their faces into their hearts.

—Martin Buxbaum shared by Louise Nyberg

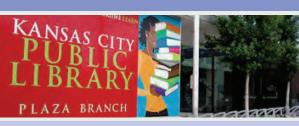

Sorry I have missed you the past few months.
Looks like everything is coming up roses, for now. And just in time for the celebration of St. Valentine!

The fourteenth is his day and he will be flying through happy lands to bestow red roses or heartshaped boxes of chocolates or both.

Remember to order your choice (or both!) so that your friend, lover, secret passion, mother, favorite aunt, grandmother, daughter, next-door neighbor, or whomever you admire will find their world more joyful by thinking of you.
